

Family Story Tree

One way to remember and feel closer to your person who died is to hear and tell stories about their life. We all have stories we like to share. Some are funny, some may be sad, but they all say something about the person and the life they lived.

- Cut out the branch and the leaves on the next page.
- On a couple of the leaves write a short story or memory about your person. You can ask an adult for help.
- Ask other family members (parent, sibling, aunt, uncle, or grandparent) to write a story or memory on the other leaves.
- Make sure everyone writes their name on their leaf with the story they shared.

Put the tree branch up somewhere in your house. Place the leaves on the branch. Print more branches and leaves as you collect more stories about your person who died.
